Cosmic Maelstrom

Published on Jun 21, 2013

Scientists have discovered that our Solar System is immersed in an Aluminum 26 Cloud which is proof that it was struck by some type of Nova Event.

The Earth's 23° Tilt is due to this Micronova that struck the entire solar system. The Micronova was a result of one of Planet X's Moons slamming into one of the moons of Rahab (Tiamat) directly on a uranium deposit resulting in a Nuclear Explosion which is recorded in every culture on the Planet. This collision occurred in the constellation of Hydra as recorded (Once and Future Star) in the Cuneiform centered on the Ecliptic so it could not be from the Vela Nova (as the book proposed) and its location was also recorded in the Southern Star Shaft of the Queen's Chamber. Strewn Tektite Fields also support this as well as the 8 miles of radioactive topsoil on the surface of the moon. The Black Basalt Desert in Egypt and all the Basalt in the Sinai as well as the Scorching of the Naqada II Pottery gives us a precise date for this event which just happens to agree with the Piorra Oscillation - the sudden desertification of the Sahara. Finally, and conclusively, the Sumerian records of a Nuclear Explosion prove this point with Nuclear Fallout, Radiation sickness, animals bursting into flames, people's skin melting, etc.

When you realize that Pangea broke up after the flood and was actually in existence at the time of this Micronova and you put the continents back in their original position (see the Expanding Earth Video), you will see that Australia would have been directly east of the Sahara and directly south of the Gobi desert which actually proves both the concept of Pangea and the Micronova.

Expanding Earth Model

Proof of a Global Flood

The Expanding Earth Model proves that the earth has expanded greatly in the past. All of the Land Masses would fit together perfectly on a smaller planet. Scientists don't know what caused this drastic expansion of the earth however this is from the Global Flood and most of the water came from the destruction of Rahab by Planet X.

A conservative estimate would make an increase in the diameter of about 5000 miles (7680 miles to 12,800 miles) and an increase of about 20 Quintillion Tons of Water to the earth.

The reason for the Atmosphere being twice as thick before the flood is because the amount of atmosphere is the same as it is now just thinned out so plants and animals do not get as large nor do they live as long - apparently determined by the size of the earth's core.

The Blast Wave from the Micronova that occurred at the first pass of Planet X can clearly be seen with the two massive areas of rapid desertification occurring with the Sahara and Gobi joined together and then Australian and Western North America. If you pause the video at exactly the 1:00 mark you will see precisely where the moon was at the time the blast hit the earth - right between those two arid areas and forming a perfect circle on the face of the earth

The Physics of Planet X

Published on Jun 7, 2013

Physics proves there was a Dwarf Star past Saturn in its original orbit as pictured on the 3K BC Akkadian Cylinder Seal. This reconciles Bode's Law as well as the Standard Accretion Model and the Mass missing from the Solar System and the Kuiper Belt Perturber and Solar System Catastrophism. Sitchin's work has been verified by an expert in the Sumerian according to Jim Marrs latest book, "Our Occulted History". Only two of his points were challenged by someone from Goddard, if memory serves, in an interview he did with Sitchin and that was the 3600 year Orbit and Pluto being a moon of Saturn (which it was not, being formally a moon of Neptune instead). For the orbit see the Notes below.

Notes :

1) Bode's Law : Planet X was originally at the Lagrangian point between Saturn and Uranus or about 15 AU from the Sun. It's mass, via Electromagnetic and/or Gravitational Wave Propagation, reset Bode's Law to 0 at that point and boosted the multiple from 3 to 5. Thus, 15 AU plus 5 equals 20 AU which is exactly where Uranus is. The multiple then doubles to 10 added to 20 AU yields 30 AU which is exactly where Neptune is and it doubles again to 20 added to 30 AU yields 50 AU which is exactly where the Kuiper Belt ends "sharply". Pluto's orbital elements are almost exactly that of Neptune's moon Triton which proves it was one of its moons and not a moon of Saturn as Sitchin mistakenly thought. Thus the object between Saturn and Uranus on the Akkadian Seal from 3K BC is definitely Planet X and not Pluto.

Centaurs, which are "half asteroid and half comet" indicate this original orbit of Planet X for some reason being captured by the Physics of Bode's Law II of the Planets right there starting at Saturn and continuing out to Neptune.

2) Standard Accretion Model : The primary element that would have been pulled from the inner solar system to the outer system, of course, would have been Hydrogen. Thus, this is the waters above and below the "firmament" mentioned by the Scriptures and the Mythologies and this actually takes on a physical manifestation also for this is exactly where the Solar System "Snow Line" begins, just past Jupiter.

3) Planet X's Orbit : Sitchin, and everyone else, got the 3600 year orbital period from Berossus's mistranslation of the word Sar (or Shar) as 'years' when it is just circuit. The Sumerians, though they knew we were in a Heliocentric system, still described it from a Terreocentric point of view (as we do). Being fascinated with multiples of 36 they looked at the Sun and described its orbit or circuit as 360 earth days. Thus, apply that to Planet X and that 3600 is not years but earth days for one orbit. Thus, its original orbit was 10 Earth Years which is not impossible for a Dwarf Star at that distance. After it was pulled out of its original orbit it was blown into outer space by a micronova from its first confrontation with Tiamet and is now on a 900 year orbit.

Post Scripts

There is a lot of ambiguity concerning this Rogue Star so I thought I would put some of the basic facts in video form.

This is made necessary due to an Article that was written a while ago by one of Terral's 'friends' (who ended up stabbing him in the back later proving he is a shill and his article is all disinformation which was soon apparent once you start researching a Dwarf Star - this is the background for Terral's Model) which may contain errors which need to be considered when trying to determine when this Black Dwarf will pass through.

1) For those who say that Black Dwarfs can not exist there are three arguments against your position. First being that Astronomers have found White Dwarfs that are 20 Billion Years old indicating, very strongly, that the Universe is substantially older than that. The next is that "Burnt out White Dwarfs" could easily account for up to 50% of the missing mass of the Universe but, for some reason, there just ain't too many of them. Well, maybe they're Black Dwarfs by now, huh - Occam's Razor would say so. The third is that in my opinion the BackGround Radiation is actually the amount of Energy in the Universe that has atrophied to the point of uselessness and can, therefore, be used to date the Universe. A rough estimate would place the BackGround Radiation at 10%, half of which probably became useless almost immediately upon the Originating Event leaving about 5% of the Background Radiation to be an accurate estimate of the Age of the Universe. It is estimated that the Universe will exist, from start to finish, for 1 to the 100th power and 5% of that would make the Universe about 5 Trillion Years Old which is more than enough time for Black Dwarfs to form. I would add for any Creationists out there that this particular Solar System has only been in existence for 6000 years and, the above model can be reconciled with Young Universers simply by saying that all 10% of that energy became useless immediately upon Creation - God's Tithe, you might say.

2) Most of the info is straight physics concerning a Black Dwarf such as its size (Equatorial Diameter) being, basically, the same size as the earth and its Mass about 1/20th of the Sun. Its original Orbital Position at 15 AU (Astronomical Units) from the Sun is from the Acadian Seal that placed Planet X (Nibiru) at that location subsequently confirmed by Physics - see my Featured video at the top of my Channel. Its original Orbital Period was actually 10 years. Sitchin, and other Experts in Sumerian who have verified most of Sitchin's Work (Jim Marrs, Our Occulted History) got the 3600 Year Orbit from Berosus who mistranslated the word 'Sar' (Shar) which simply meant 'circuit'. The Sumerians, though they knew we were in a Heliocentric System, still described it from a Terrocentric point of view. Being fascinated by 36, they described the Sun's 'Orbit' as being 360 Sars which would be, of course, Earth Days. Thus, when they describe the orbit of Planet X as being 3600 Sars, it means Earth Days and equates to about 10 years. From its Orbital dimensions we can then calculate its original orbital speed at 3 Million Miles an hour making it a Hypervelocity Star. This Forward Velocity would have been affected by its collision with Tiamet so I suspect that its Forward Velocity now, at Perihelion, is probably about 1 Million Miles an Hour which is how fast I clocked its Gravity Wave the other day (approximately) on my Black Dawn Video.

3) As with a Brown Dwarf a Black Dwarf would have a Blanket of Dust around it held in place by its Magnetosphere thus it would not reflect any light.

Thus, we are not looking for a Ghost gliding across a darkened room at night.

We are looking for the Shadow of a Ghost gliding across a darkened room at Night.

Recalibration

I found a few more mistakes in Sitchin's Model which has now helped me nail down the orbit and location of Planet X and we should be hitting its debris around the end of September - this latest Meteorite in Nicaragua which left a Crater is an indication that I am right and of things to come - Sun currently in the Constellation of Crater in Leo may support this contention.

1) A static object in space would have gravity waves but they would be stationary which indicates that Gravity Waves travel at the same speed as the object causing them - in this case

Planet X reached Hyper Velocity status when the Micro Nova blasted it into outer space which is exactly how stars reach hypervelocity speeds - see the book Extreme Cosmos by Bryan Gaensler.

2) Though Sitchin's main conclusions have been verified by an expert in Sumerian according to Jim Marr's latest book, Our Occulted History - i.e. that there was a war of the 'Gods' which means a war of the Planets that is recorded in virtually every culture on the Planet - he still made several mistakes.

The first mistake was actually not his and that was on the, supposed, 3600 year orbit due to a misinterpretation of the Sumerian word 'Shar' which they translated as an Earth Year apparently however, the Sumerians stated that the Sun's 'Orbit' was 360 Shars and thus a Shar is simply an Earth Day thus the 3600 Shar Orbit of Planet X equates to about 10 years which is about right for a Black Dwarf (originally) parked between Saturn and Uranus.

His next major mistake was assuming Gaga was Pluto when, in fact, it was Planet X. The proof is that he assumed, from his misinterpretation of the texts, that Gaga was pulled out of Orbit around Saturn and sent out into outer space to become Pluto; however, it is apparent that Pluto was actually a moon of Neptune, not Saturn, and his interpretation immediately breaks down. The texts themselves, when describing Gaga, give it lofty terms including Avenger which is specific to Planet X and certainly do not apply in any way to Pluto. Thus, on the Acadian Seal he presents, Planet X is shown right between Saturn and Uranus and the texts themselves imply its Dwarf Star status by saying it was formed "of olden times" or it was more ancient than the other denizens of the Solar System. They also describe it as being much 'stronger' than the other Planets which could only be describing a Dwarf Star.

Planet X is not inhabited - it is the Planet that was destroyed by Planet X that had life on it and that the Annuaki departed from 1200 (corrected) years before the Flood probably because the (notoriously) unstable orbit of Dwarf Stars had already been noticed of Planet X and they correctly assumed it was going to collide with their Planet - this was about 200 years before the Micro Nova.

He then concluded that Planet X orbits backwards from all the other Planets and leads one to believe that he derived this from the Texts but is actually derived from several of his own conclusions about Comets, Pluto and Triton but he did not take a Micro Nova into account which perfectly answers the question about the erratic orbits of those celestial bodies.

3) With the Micro Nova occurring directly behind Planet X it blasted it directly out into space (at a 30° downward angle) where the shock wave pushed it to speeds of around 2 Million Miles Per Hour to become a Hyper Velocity Star with a new "Supreme Destiny" or Orbit of just about 900 years.

4) It would return to that location in Hydra at every pass on its way out of the Solar System so it has to previously cross up through the Ecliptic on the other side of the Sun in Cetus and Perseus which the Greeks recorded thus reaching Perihelion and its highest point above the Ecliptic right in Auriga the Oarsmen - this is where the Earth passes every year around January which is why the Russian's got hit with that Meteorite two year ago by the debris that is preceding Planet X not to mention the Tunguska Event.

5) We didn't hit any of its debris last fall because it had just passed and its debris tail was fairly thin. We will not hit its debris until its tail has fanned out enough to span the 2 AU distance between Earth and the Asteroid Belt at those two locations. When we do we will pass through this debris tail twice a year every year for the for-see-able future and this includes during the Tribulation circa 2040 AD and probably accounts for the Vial Judgments mentioned in the Book of Revelation.

Black Dawn : Planet X is Here!

Planet X passed Sun July 15, 2013 and is currently outbound in lower Libra as of this date (September 23, 2014 AD). When the debris in its tail fans out and spans the 2 AU distance between Earth and the Asteroid belt then the Earth will get bombarded every spring around April and autumn around October - keep your eye on SWAN Comet Tracker which gives us about a four day notice - URL below.

Planet X passed Sun July 15, 2013 AD popped Io's cork Aug 23 its outgoing wake passed over the earth and we'll probably hit debris from its incoming wake between April to June.

Two days after it broke the Ecliptic its Gravity Waves hit Stereo knocking them higher making the Planets Mercury and Earth appear to drop in their orbits. You can actually see both Mercury and Earth do a Three Step - Forward, Backward and Two Steps Down perfectly showing the passing of the Gravity Wave. Since the publishing of this video the Stereos have recorded a Black Spot 'transiting' the Sun from Earth's point of view, the Sun's Umbra has become 'Eclipsed' by an Unseen Object and a Umbral 'Pole' formed on the other side of the Sun on July 16th at the same approximate time distortion slammed into Lasco.

Let me explain some things. The Solar System actually has an 'up' and a 'down' which is determined by the Sun's Poles. The North Pole is up and the South Pole is down.

Electromagnetism flows from positive to negative. The Sun's 'Equator' (which is also the Solar System's Ecliptic) is neutral - this is why Saturn's Rings form at the Equator and the Planets on the Ecliptic which are, basically, the Sun's 'Rings'. So, the Ecliptic is exactly equal to the surface of an Ocean.

Now, as far as I know, all the satellites we have are protected by the Earth's Magnetosphere so the hit we took from X's Electromagnetism when it broke the Ecliptic only registered as a 'blip' on the screen and they went back to normal (see Suspicious Observers daily news for the 28th to see the hit on various Satellite Programs at URL below).

Except for the Stereo Satellites because they were unprotected and thus they are still receiving distortion eight days later. Thus, these are the perfect Satellites to use for 'buoys' cause they are just free floating on the surface of the ecliptic and when they were hit by that Gravity Wave it is obvious.

Planet X will pass between the Sun and Earth approximately July 8, 2013 AD (plus or minus two day error factor) and combine its gravity with the Sun's via Wave Propagation and the Earth is gonna get Hammered.

For those who believe in the Magnetic Universe Theory - this video not only supports your theory but it also proves that Gravity is a separate force from Electromagnetism and you have to consider both of them in your Theories.

Fire and Ice as it were (name that movie quote).

Some might ask why, if it's that close, it hasn't devastated the earth yet and this is because Planet X has only a fraction of the Sun's Mass - lets say 1/Xth the Mass of our Sun - so as long as Planet X stays 1/Xth AU away from the Earth then the Earth is stabilized and protected by the Sun's Magnetosphere for the most part. But, when it passes directly between the two, it's bad news.

Best way to watch this video, by the way, is to listen to AC/DC's song Thunderstruck while you watch it. Just start the music video first then start this video about two seconds later.

Post Scripts :

1) Contrary to Popular Ignorance, we still don't know what the Speed of Gravity is because no one has actually measured a Gravity Wave - see Article Below by Miles Mathis. Well, your Intrepid X Patriot has just done what no physicist on the Planet has been able to do and that is Clock a Gravity Wave proving it does not travel at 'C' or the Speed of Light. Planet X broke the Ecliptic Jun 27 and its Electromagnetic Wave hit the entire inner Solar System virtually immediately. Its Gravity wave, however, didn't hit Stereo Behind until two days later so, basically, it took 2 Days for the Gravity to travel about 1 AU (93 Million Miles) meaning it travels (in this case) about 40 Million Miles a Day or about One Million Miles an Hour.

Beat that you NASA pukes.

The Speed of Gravity :

After I posted this video, lo and behold, NASA 'found' Gravity Waves.

Some conclusions have changed on its orbit due to a re-evaluation of Sitchin so see my post on Planet X for Dummies.

Solar System Catastrophism

Below is a response I made to a thread back in 2013 on the Graham Hancock forum and it gives a good summary of the Micronova and the first reply on this thread will be the info on the new star chart just found and some of my comments on that.

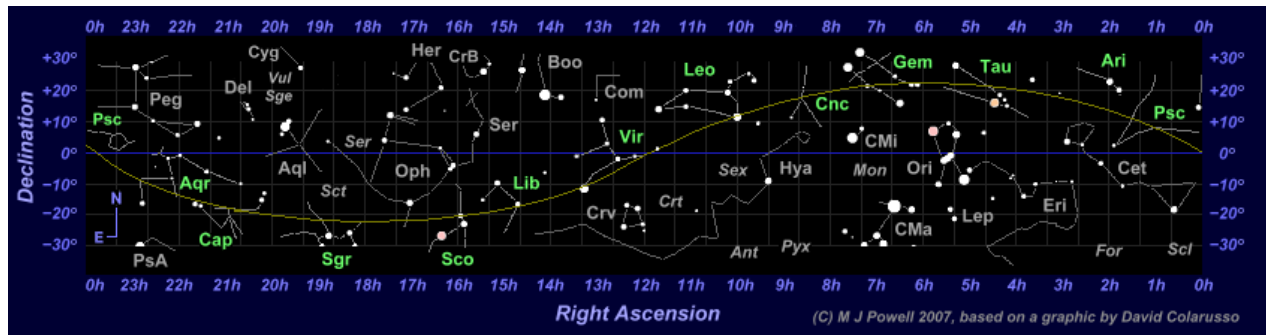

Author: Theoferrum Date: December 04, 2013 09:40PM

Here is where I disagree with Velikovsky - let me quote Wiki real quick :

"The causes of these natural catastrophes were close encounters between the Earth and other bodies within the solar system — not least what are now the planets Saturn, Jupiter, Venus, and Mars, these bodies having moved upon different orbits within human memory."

What Velikovsky didn't realize is that, it was not the orbits of these planets that had changed but their 'apparent' position on the ecliptic as recorded by the Mythologies (this is also, to a certain extent, what Santillana was seeing in the Mythologies). When the earth was kicked off its 0° Axis it made it look like the planets had gone haywire - you can compare the two Ecliptics in the photo below.

Osborn and Creighton in the Giza Prophecy have proven that this Pole Shift off the original position of 0°s occurred in mankind's recorded history. This radical change in the apparent position of the planets resulted in various mythological accounts of the war of the gods. It was the result of the first pass of the rogue Planet X Dwarf Star (The Destroyer to the Egyptians, Abaddon in Hebrew, Perseus to the Greeks, etc).

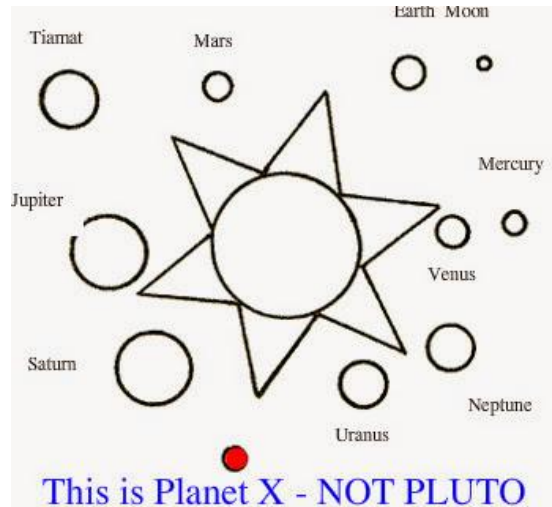

It's moon slammed into Tiamat (Rahab to the Hebrews, Typhon to the Greeks, etc) directly on a Uranium deposit resulting in a thermonuclear explosion (what I have deemed a micronova) that devastated the entire solar system. This is what kicked most of the planets off their axes and, literally, blew Mercury in closer to the sun on a part of its orbit which you can actually see to this day.

Its radioactive fallout and concussion wave are recorded in the Sumerian and Indian myths and it permeated the top 8 miles of the moon's surface with radioactivity as well as leaving Strewn Fields of Tektites on the moon and the earth. This is probably the Vela Nova recorded in the Once and Future Star and is assuredly the subject of the Star Chart that was recently found in the Great Pyramid behind Gantenbrink's Door.

Bode's Law pretty much proves that all the Planets were here for the early stage of Solar System formation and in their current locations (more or less). What people are seeing is what Sitchin pointed out and that is that there used to be a 'planet' (actually Dwarf star) between Saturn and Uranus. Dwarf Stars are characteristically unstable in their orbits and this one decayed and was pulled into the inner solar system resulting in all the catastrophism seen throughout the system.

Take a look at the Norse on this, especially their use of the 'wolf' in their mythologies - these are the comets, asteroids and meteorites (impactors) that devastated the entire solar system when Planet X destroyed Tiamat. For instance, an EDM discharge wouldn't have caused that scar on Mars but an impactor would which the Norse say was Tyr getting his arm bit off by a Wolf. Jupiter, before the Romans integrated their Mythology with the Norse, was actually referring to Odin thus the Spot on Jupiter was, originally, Odin's Eyepatch (from a massive impactor) and, later, it was assigned to Thor which makes it one of the holes in the boat where he put his foot through the bottom of the boat in the battle with the hydra.

A Dwarf Star originally located between Saturn and Uranus (which Sitchin mislabeled as Pluto - see photo below) affects several laws of Physics concerning early Solar System formation - Bodes Law, Missing Mass, Migration of Elements, Kuiper Belt Perturber, etc.

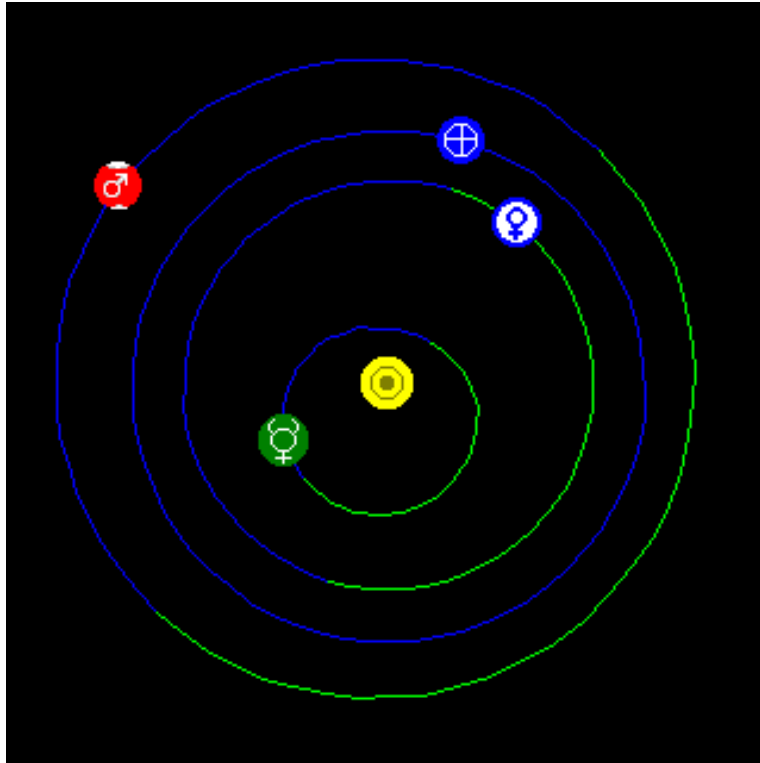

The Binary Research Institute has theorized that we are in a binary orbit with Sirius - Robert Temple could have a field day with this one - because in history it used to be Red Shifted (meaning it was moving away from us) but now is Blue Shifting (indicating it is now approaching us).

Again, Bode's Law can be shown to prove that all the Planets currently in orbit around the Earth were here during formation. Two planets are missing. One that was destroyed and is now the asteroid belt and the other went rogue.

The entire solar system shows catastrophism - except Venus which is still pristine (exactly as the mythologies present her) which astronomers explain away as some type of 'resurfacing' event for Venus (which they deny for half of Mercury) but which is much more easily explained by the fact that Venus was on the other side of the sun and protected when the debris from the destroyed planet Tiamet blasted throughout the solar system.

There has only been one ice age and that is what the mythologies call the Global Flood. The planet that was destroyed was a water world and sent water throughout the solar system (there is actually more water on the outer moons than on earth) which has been proven by the limestone meteorites that Russian Scientists found which they say could only have come from the ocean bed of a planet at one time in our solar system. Further, the Willamette Meteorite was originally stated to be from the iron core of a planet once in orbit around our sun.

The manmade dating methods are out to lunch - a manmade sphere in billion year old marble pretty much proves that. The Expanding Earth Video proves that the cultural mythologies are correct and that this earth was hit by a global flood which increased the size of the earth.

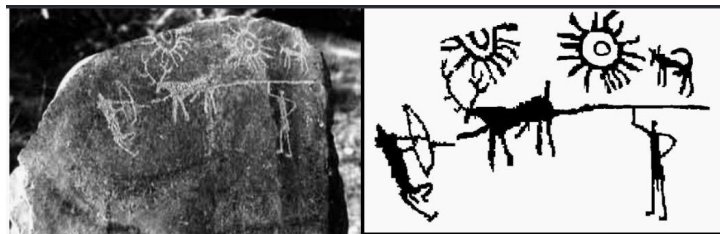

I think you'll find that the micronova is what led to this perturbation of the solar system. It blew Pluto from its orbit around Neptune into its own orbit. Kicked Venus right upside down and Uranus right over on its side. Check out the orbit of Mercury below and you can see where the explosion blew little Mercury right into the sun.

Sagan, in his book Comet, stated that if it were found that there was a Dwarf Star in our system, it would immediately be recognized as the Perturber of the Asteroid Belt and the (imaginary) Oort Cloud. Now, another problem for the Astronomers is that there was an influx of fossil meteorites (L Chondrites) which Cosmic Ray Exposure Rates date to only a couple of thousand years ago which is in perfect agreement with the cultural records but leaves Darwin out on a Limb of that banana tree.

The objects that are out of place as far as Astronomy goes, is all the captured outer moons of the outer gas giants (Jupiter, Saturn etc) where their orbits around their host planets are so erratic that they are obviously not original however, the planets themselves are original - there just happens to be one that is 'missing' from the lineup which is actually recorded by the Egyptians who have two Hieroglyphs from the book of the Earth (as recorded by Sitchin in the 12th Planet on page 68) which shows the sun, moon and ten planets in one glyph, then shows the sun, moon and nine planets in another with one of the planets coming up missing. Further, the Greeks and Egyptians both place the Pantheon at 12 (originally) and you can see the Egyptian Pantheon at the top of the Weighing of the Soul Hieroglyph which shows 12 gods seated in the upper left.

Micronova in Rock Art

5,000-year old rock art found in India is likely the oldest depiction of a supernova

3600 BC. Astrophysicist Mayank Vahia and his colleagues at the Tata Institute of Fundamental Research believe a rock painting found in what is today part of the Kashmir region of south Asia is the oldest record of a supernova and likely the oldest sky chart ever drawn. The artwork shows two bright objects in the sky, with figures of animals and humans underneath.

The figures underneath the supernova and the moon on the rock painting aren't part of a hunting scene, as it might seem at first glance. Instead, Vahia's analysis shows they neatly fit the constellations that surrounded the supernova: The man with the bow and arrow on the left is Orion; the stag is Taurus; the man on the right holding a spear is part of Pisces; and the dog is the Andromeda galaxy.

<https://qz.com/1171320/5000-year-old-rock-art-found-in-india-is-likely-the-oldest-depiction-of-a-supernova/>

The individual pictured with the spear is Centaur, not Orion. Leo is on the right Sagittarius is on the left with Virgo pictured by the Sun where the sun was at the time of the Micronova in August 3576 BC (as recorded by the ruling planets of astrology) supported by a Horned god in the Dendera Zodiac.

The Micronova would have been figured as being in hydra but blew itself into Scorpio according to the records as well as pictured here.

The horns of the stag are assuredly the two claws of the Scorpion which probably gained that symbolism (death) from this very event.

Kinda like the Gordian Knot thing but different...

For those who don't know, Occam's Razor in a nutshell (ou un noeud si vous préférez) states that the simplest answer is probably the correct one.

Open Challenge to NASA : Please explain how all the changes occurring in our Solar System right now - many of them portrayed in this Video with source URLs below - is NOT the result of the approach of Planet X especially considering that you yourselves state that this Brown Dwarf may be "Lurking" near our Solar System.

You do know what a Binary System is, don't you?

<http://www.binaryresearchinstitute.org/>

Post Scripts :

The perceptive mind will note that the question is not, "What is causing all these changes" but, rather, it is, "What is causing all these changes at the exact same time."

There is only one answer to that question.

Saturn did in fact tilt by 90 degrees enough for us to see the underside of its rings which we shouldn't have been able to - if it was just due to a refracting telescope, Saturn would appear 180 degrees out of phase, not 90.

The Two Suns is not lens flare or lens artifact for even the slightest movement of the lens would reveal these for what they are as any one with a pair of glasses on their face can easily verify and, further, many of these videos were made by people who saw the second sun with their own eyes and then decided to film it, like this one :

http://youtu.be/tQ3F-7fX1_w

The Thesis presented in this video is actually proven by the fact that I found the changes on Neptune, Uranus and Venus when I specifically went looking for them.
